Garret Romaine is an avid gold prospector, rockhound, and fossil collector with years of experience in the field. He is a long-time writer for Gold Prospectors magazine, and is the author of The Modern Rockhounding and Prospecting Handbook, Rocks, Gems and Minerals of the Southwest, Rocks, Gems, and Minerals of the Rocky Mountains, and Rockhounding Idaho, all from FalconGuides, as well as Gem Trails of Washington and Gem Trails of Oregon. Garret is a member of the Board of Directors of the Rice NW Museum of Rocks and Minerals in Hillsboro, Oregon.

So far I love it, and can't wait until Gold Panning California goes to print. It tells you what is allowed on each river or creek, and a general idea of the type of gold you will find. The book is only two years old, and should be very up to date with the latest prospecting restrictions.

Any book you buy will never have all the claims listed and new ones and old ones are always changing. It did miss some of the areas that our Gold prospecting club uses and some areas that are open for public use. But it did show some areas that I hadn't seen before.

Seems to be a great resource with geo location for the interest spots. I would love a more detailed oregon- only guide, but until that happens this seems to be a good resource.

If you are interested in looking to pan for gold this book will give you locations and ideas on where to go.

This book is full of useful information, maps and detailed descriptions of the places to find gold.

Awesome book that gives good directions to places to pan in the PNW. Already have tried two sites and gotten some flakes!

wow...ultra fast delivery ...very pleased :-)

As described and fast shipping
