Bruce Kimball has been a scale modeler from about 1970. He has been involved with model clubs, model events and the scale hobby business most of his life. As the owner of rocketfin.com, he has continued to support and enjoy the modeling community from around the world. As a builder and craftsman, he builds models of all kinds, from cars, to Scifi, to ships and aircraft.

I thought Mr. Kimball did a decent job on the subject's, but I was left wanting more detail on some of the assemblies he wrote about. Maybe his next book .

An okay book an building several model kits. Includes info how to light one kit and some weathering techniques but nothing special,

Good informative book, lots of fun to read.
